Fr Matthew's Weekly Video Message

Hello & Peace be with you from my home to yours.

This weekend we have the theme of the vineyards in our first reading and Jesus tells the parable of the vineyard and the workers in our Gospel, and our psalm also says 'the vineyard of the Lord is the house of Israel'. It's a metaphor for 'the people of God' and today we can perhaps remember and remind ourselves that our families, are the domestic church, where people live and care for each other at home, in their own homes, in our communities, in our places, towns, throughout Australia, throughout the world. The 'house of the Lord' are the families and people living in homes caring for each other. Sometimes we forget that, we think of a building, we think our church building and places of worship, rather than the people of worship. This weekend when we listen to our Gospel, we can again remind ourselves that the church begins in our family. In all the different ways and in all the different experiences and all the different messiness of life too, it's not always perfect and that's ok, but I think our readings this weekend tell us and affirm, that God continues to be with us. Using that image again of the vineyard and the vines, yes, sometimes things need pruning and caring for and tending for as we heard last weekend. As we again listen to the scriptures this weekend, as we hear that metaphor of the vineyard being the house of Israel, may it also include our homes, our families and those that we care for, may we continue to tend and care for them.

God Bless from my home to yours, peace be with you.

Fr Matthew
