4TH SUNDAY OF SUNDAY – 25 APRIL 2021 ANZAC DAY

The Traditions of ANZAC DAY

A SPRIG OF ROSEMARY

Rosemary has been associated with remembrance since ancient times, but its particular significance to ANZAC Day dates back to World War I. Native to the seaside regions of the Mediterranean, rosemary grows wild on the slopes of the Gallipoli Peninsula. Tradition has it that a wounded Digger brought home a small rosemary bush from ANZAC Cove, which was planted in the grounds of the Army Hospital at Keswick, South Australia. Cuttings from this original plant were taken and propagated in nurseries all over Australia, and sprigs of rosemary are worn to this day by attendees at ANZAC Day ceremonies as a fragrant reminder of the fallen.

THE CATAFALQUE PARTY

At the beginning of an ANZAC Day service, four members of the Defence Force take up position around the cenotaph or shrine, standing with their heads bowed and arms (the weapons they are carrying) reversed. They remain there as a mark of respect for the fallen until the end of the service. These four sentries are known as a catafalque party. A catafalque (pronounced cat-a-falk) is a raised platform on which a coffin rests before burial but is represented at ANZAC ceremonies by the memorial.

THE LAST POST

The Last Post is traditionally the bugle call that signals the end of the working day, but it has been adopted in commemorative services to herald the service people who have gone to their final rest. At Dawn Services, the minute's silence is broken by the Reveille – traditionally, the first call of the day to wake sleeping soldiers.

THE ODE OF REMEMBRANCE

Less than two months after WWI was declared, with heavy casualties already being reported, English poet Laurence Binyon wrote For the Fallen. Since 1921, the fourth stanza – known as The Ode – has become a central part of ANZAC ceremonies, encapsulating Australia's collective sense of respect and loss for the service people who gave their lives during World War I, and in all conflicts since:

*They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old;
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning,
We will remember them.*

Prayer for Vocations

You are the good shepherd who calls us by name and asks us to follow You.

May the Holy Spirit kindle the hearts of those who You are calling to the priesthood & consecrated life.

Give them courage to respond to their vocation to serve Your Church.

May all of us who seek to know you better, to faithfully follow Your call to holiness, and proclaim the gospel to the world.

Amen.

Come Holy Spirit,
fill the hearts of your faithful,
enkindle in them the fire of your love.
Send forth your Spirit
and they shall be created.
And you shall renew the face of the earth.

Let us pray.
O God, who instruct the hearts of the faithful
by the light of the Holy Spirit,
grant us in the same Spirit to be truly wise,
and ever to rejoice in your consolation.
Through Christ, our Lord. Amen

EASTER: 'He has risen, he is not here...go and tell the disciples...'

We are in the midst of the Easter Season, a time of rejoicing and celebration of the newness of Christ, the Risen one in our lives. It was wonderful to be able to celebrate the Easter ceremonies with so many in still turbulent times. I was and am grateful for the many blessings and being able to gather. He truly is Risen.

It was a little over 12 months ago when we were 'locked down' unable to celebrate any liturgy publicly at all. Much has happened and there are many experiences which we have all had over this time. Even with the many obstacles and difficulties much has been achieved over these last twelve months. With the shock of the restrictions many helped to connect our parish community electronically and where possible by 'distance connections' with dropping off bulletins, visits, supporting people and many other ways which people have reached out in this amazing community. We seem to be in the next phase with the vaccination role out. This has meant an opening up, regaining and renewing how we gather and live not only our faith but our very way of life.

Over these last months and year, our Parish Leadership Group has (albeit in different ways due to circumstances achieved many things behind the scenes), continued to participate and pastorally lead our community. Much has been online at 'zoom meetings' and more recently in person and are looking to renew and respond to the times we are in. The Parish Leadership Group have and continue to use 'A Living Document: Parish Plan'. Thank you to the members of the group who have given so much and added to our community in so many ways since their commitment before Bishop Michael McCarthy and our community in August 2019 when this document was presented.

On behalf of the Capricorn Coast Catholic Parish, THANK YOU:

Denis Murphy
Joan Ellaway
Shane Pianta

Margaret McAuliffe-Harris
Sue Coad
Rene Veltmeyer

Mark Boyd
Max Martin
Fr Matthew

The commitment which they gave the Parish was for twelve months and to review after that time the achievements and their ongoing commitment to continue in this ministry of leadership. Denis, Margaret, Mark, and Sue, due to changing circumstances in family, work, and retirement, have decided to not continue in this ministry. New members are being invited to join and if you are interested you might like to let someone from the above list know so that the new group can be shared with the community into the future.

As we are able to gather with greater confidence and safety, now and into the future (due to the vaccinations and some restrictions lifting), it is hoped that the group will report back to the Parish ongoing directions. This weekend Max Martin and Rene Veltmeyer will share briefly with our community parts of the Parish Plan which continues to be implemented, reviewed, and renewed by the Parish Leadership Group.

Our community is a vibrant and welcoming community and so many participate in living the mission of the Risen Christ.

Thank you to each of you and your ongoing ministry of:
presence, participation and outreach.
EASTER Blessings and Peace.

Fr Matthew

We are all called to live out the Mission of the Risen Christ.
This weekend, to help with feedback there are three simple questions:

IN OUR PARISH:

- ❖ What are the good things...
- ❖ What has been difficult...
- ❖ What could improve...
